The Chronicle and Directory for 1871.

THIS Work, now in the NINTH year of its existence, will be published as early as practicable after the close of the current year.

It will be copied and printed at the Daily Press Office, as usual, from the best and most authentic sources, and no pains will be spared to make the work complete in all respects.

In addition to the usual varied and voluminous information, the value of the "Chronicle and Directory for 1871" will be further augmented by the addition of a Chromo-lithograph plate of the NEW CODE OF SIGNALS in use at the Peak; also of the various HOUSE FLAGS; a MAP OF HONGKONG; A MAP OF JAPAN; and a CHART OF THE COAST, besides other local information and statistics corrected to date of publication, tending to make this work a ready means for all Public, Mercantile and General Offices.

The Publisher requests that those persons who have not yet returned the printed forms which have been sent to them to fill up, will be good enough to do so without delay. Any persons who have recently arrived, and to whom printed forms have not been sent, are respectfully requested to forward their names and addresses as early as possible for insertion.

THIS PAGE IS FOR YOU.

The word which heads this paper is not a mere name or a coined word, but, to use the expression of Leech's Latinum, it means a "name of a lot." It is the concentrated essence of the language of disease, an extractive emulsion distilled from the vocabulary of abuse by some linguist. Lying of the present day, they come to us in the form of harsh, self-satisfied, sharp and bitter, in unknown quantities of highly-seasoned condimentary language. To say of anything that it is "all rot," is not any worse than "the whole incomplete and defective manner"; and when you have said "rot" of "Lithia," you have said it more thoroughly and completely. Still, with all this vast advantage of comprehensiveness and brevity, the fact still remains that "rot" is a coarse and very ugly word. No poet worth his salt would use it. This is the case, likewise, with its solitary phoneticism, an epic or a farce abruptly flinging the whole with an evil savour, as does the smallest particle of the unpeeled onion of entangling, and apparently gaudy, up. And, further, the greater number of us, who are not bodily qualified to express the use of this little word by the rosy lips through whose enchanting portals streams of the sweetest along had hitherto passed without relapse. Why, then, about a dozen times on such a word as is destined to pass by many for the rest of its life, is it not? Because we emphatically answer to no word so well and effectively describes much of what is said and written at the present time, and which, from the glibness that it covers, is apt to be overlooked.
